The College

INTRODUCTION TO OWC

GENERAL

OWC is a regionally accredited, public institution that is part of Florida's system of 28 community colleges. OWC is one of several Florida community colleges authorized to offer bachelor's degrees. The college is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award Bachelor and Associate degrees, certificates, and diplomas. OWC also provides adult basic education, high school equivalency instruction, English-as-a-Second Language courses, non-credit continuing education, distance learning, dual enrollment for high school students, and customized training for business and industry. OWC operates a charter school, the Collegiate High School, on the college's Niceville campus that allows motivated students in grades 10, 11, and 12 to complete a high school diploma and a college degree at the same time.

Baccalaureate degree programs, which began Fall Term 2004, include a Bachelor of Applied Science degree program in Project and Acquisitions Management and a Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree. The BAS degree is awarded solely by OWC. The BSN program is offered in partnership with the University of West Florida. OWC also offers a joint program with the University of West Florida at the OWC Arts Center in Niceville for the Bachelor of Arts in Interdisciplinary Humanities.

Located in the coastal heart of Northwest Florida, the college's service district includes Okaloosa and Walton counties, an area that stretches from the Gulf of Mexico to the Alabama state line. The college district has a population in excess of 232,500 permanent residents.

OWC operates six campuses and centers, with a future location planned for south Walton County. In addition to the Niceville campus, OWC operates a fully-combined joint campus with the University of West Florida in Fort Walton Beach. OWC full-time educational centers include the Chautauqua Center in DeFuniak Springs, the Robert L. F. Sikes Education Center in Crestview, and centers at Eglin Air Force Base and Hurlburt Field Air Force Base.

OWC is proud to celebrate more than 40 years of "Success by Degrees." Established by the Florida Legislature in April 1963 as the 18th of the state's eventual 28 community colleges, Okaloosa-Walton Junior College first opened its doors to students in August 1964 at a temporary campus in Valparaiso. At the time, OWJC had a faculty of ten instructors, three support personnel and five administrators for the 309 full-time and 458 part-time students on hand. OWC's faculty now consists of approximately 90 full-time instructors and 188 part-time instructors¹, as well as 243 full-time support staff and seven administrators at six educational centers, serving approximately 15,000 students annually. Since the college's founding, more than 200,000 students have been served by OWC, and more than 23,000 degrees have been granted by the college.

¹Note: The number of full-time and part-time instructional staff fluctuates from semester to semester based on instructional load. Personnel figures reflect Personnel Data Base totals for Fall Semester.

FINANCIAL MANAGEMENT

FINANCIAL SUMMARY

Okaloosa-Walton College's 2006 – 2007 General Operating Expenditure Budget was in excess of $27.3 million. State funding represented 66.7% of total revenues received while student fees were 31.2% and other revenues were 2.1%. It is anticipated these percentages will be approximately the same for 2007-2008.

OWC has always put a very high percentage of its budget into the direct cost of instruction. Through good financial management, OWC has been able to provide a high quality education at a low cost to the student. OWC's tuition rate is the lowest among Florida's public colleges or universities.

Increasingly important sources of new revenues to the college are restricted grants and contracts and external sources of student financial aid. In 2006– 2007, federal, state, local and private funds provided approximately $6.1 million in revenues to support special educational initiatives and student aid.

The 2005 – 2006 Annual Financial Report reflects that OWC continues to be financially sound and, through its dedication to fiscal responsibility, is expected to maintain this position.

OWC takes great pride in its history of consistently outstanding audits of its financial affairs and will strive for continued success in this area.

AUXILIARY AND SUPPORT SERVICES

The Auxiliary Services departments such as the College Store, Food Services, Coin-Op Copy Service and Day Care Center are self-supporting operations that compliment the academic mission of the college. Self-supporting refers to those operations that receive no college or state funds, nor student fees to finance their activities. These departments charge a small markup on the items sold to cover salaries and expenses involved in providing the service to the college community. Any excess of revenues over expenditures (profit) is used for replacement of equipment, student financial aid, and other worthwhile needs of the college as determined by the college president.

Support Services, including Graphics Services and Central Services, are college-funded service departments. This means that these departments charge other college departments that use the services materials cost only. The college funds all labor and expense costs, usually with state appropriated funds.

Support Service departments provide necessary services to the college such as printing, copying, campus mail service, office supplies, delivery of purchases, and pickup/delivery to the other campus centers and local vendors. In combination with auxiliary services, these service departments contribute to a more efficiently managed educational institution.
