ASSIGNMENTS, GRADING SCHEME AND PROCEDURES

Assignments

Final course grades will be determined using the following percentages for assignments:

20%	Attendance at Class Sessions
10%	Participation and Contributions to Classroom Discussion
20%	Completion of Online Video Lecture Participation (VLP) Sheets
12.5%	Written Assignment #1	(See “Written Assignments” below for more information.)
12.5%	Written Assignment #2
12.5%	Written Assignment #3
12.5%	Philosopher Presentation	(See “Philosopher Presentation” below for more information.)
100%	TOTAL

+ 5% Extra Credit Available – by submitting at least five XC Personal Journals (Extra-Credit Personal Journals)

ATTENDANCE AT CLASS SESSIONS (20% OF GRADE)

Attendance at class sessions counts for 20% of your grade in this course, participation in classroom discussions counts for an additional 10% of your grade, and completion of Online Video Lecture Participation (VLP) Sheets counts for 20% of your grade in this course.

Therefore, you are expected to come to each class session prepared to contribute fully, you are expected to participate in all discussions, and you are expected to complete all Online Video Lecture Participation (VLP) Sheets as we cover each topic.

You are expected to attend all class sessions, but you are allowed one free absence.

If you miss more than your one free absence, your score for attendance will be reduced one letter grade for each class session you miss beyond the free absence. See the chart below.

Number of Absences	Highest Possible Grade for Attendance and Participation
1 Absence or less	A (if you arrive on time, are prepared, and participate fully)
2 Absences	B
3 Absences	C
4 Absences	D
5 Absences or more	No credit for either Attendance or Participation

PARTICIPATION AND CONTRIBUTION TO CLASSROOM DISCUSSIONS (10% OF GRADE)

Participation in classroom discussions accounts for 10% of your grade in this course. Students learn best when they are engaged actively with the course material and their fellow learners. Therefore, you are expected to read all assignments and contribute to classroom discussions. You do not need any background in philosophy to participate successfully. You need only to engage the course materials, contribute to discussions, ask questions, prepare assignments, and be willing to learn.

COMPLETION OF ONLINE VIDEO LECTURE PARTICIPATION (VLP) SHEETS (20% OF GRADE)

In addition to attending on-campus class sessions, students are expected to view Video Lectures, which are available from our course website. While watching Video Lectures, students will be expected to complete Video Lecture Participation (VLP) Sheets. More information will be given in our class sessions.

Video Lecture Participation (VLP) Sheets are due at the beginning of each class session and will not be accepted late.

WRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS (37.5% OF GRADE)

Written Assignments: There are three written assignments. For each written assignment, you will be given three questions. You should write a minimum of 250 words to answer each question on a Written Assignment. At the end of each answer you prepare, you should indicate the number of words you have written.

For every question you answer on each Written Assignment, you must include at least one citation from the Video Lectures and at least one citation from the textbook. (By citing these sources, you will demonstrate that you have viewed the Video Lectures fully and read the assigned sections in the textbook completely.)

Please use in-text citations and cite the sources as follows:

When citing the Textbook:

(Solomon, 12th ed., 55)

which means the textbook, 12th edition, and page 55.

When citing the Video Lectures:

(Allen, Video Lecture 9 - Reality Immaterialism 3:14)

which means Video Lecture 9 by Allen, titled Reality Immaterialism. Your quote can be found at 3 minute and 14 seconds in the video lecture.

At the end of your assignment, include a Works Cited page with an entry for the Video Lectures and an entry for the textbook as follows:

Allen, Dean. Video Lectures.

Solomon, Robert C., Kathleen M. Higgins, and Clancy Martin, eds., Introducing Philosophy: A Text with Integrated Readings, 12th ed., Oxford University Press, 2021.

Every Written Assignment is to be typewritten and double-spaced using 12 pt. font (Times New Roman or equivalent). Every written assignment should be saved as a Microsoft Word document or PDF file and submitted on the course website by the deadline stated in the "Course Schedule" (a separate document you can find on the course website).

ALWAYS KEEP AN ELECTRONIC COPY OF YOUR WRITTEN ASSIGNMENTS. While you will submit assignments on the course website, it is a good idea to keep an electronic copy for yourself.

All work submitted must be your own. Plagiarism is a very serious offense and is not acceptable. When you use additional resources, you must cite them in the text and at the end of your assignment. You are required to follow the Student Handbook guidelines for academic integrity. Do not present others' ideas as your own, including using artificial intelligence (AI) software/programs or AI communication assistants to complete your work in this course. Plagiarism and/or AI use may result in a zero for the assignment, a failing grade in the course, and possible disciplinary action.

PLEASE NOTE: If you plagiarize, use AI programs, or utilize AI communication assistants to prepare your work, you may be given only one opportunity during the entire course to revise and resubmit an assignment. Subsequent examples of plagiarism may result in a zero for the assignments.

If you choose to resubmit the assignment, the maximum grade you may earn will be 50 out of 100.

Because Written Assignment #3 is due near the end of the course, there is no opportunity to resubmit it. Plagiarism, AI use, or utilizing AI communication assistants on Written Assignment #3 may result in a zero for the assignment.

PHILOSOPHER PRESENTATION (12.5% OF GRADE)

Students are required to complete an oral presentation during the course. Your presentation must last at least three but not more than five minutes. Near the beginning of the course, you either can choose a Philosopher or a topic of interest in philosophy, which will become the subject of your presentation.

By the due date listed in the “Course Schedule” document, you will submit on the course website the name of the philosopher you will cover in your Philosopher Presentation. (See the “Course Schedule” for the specific date.)

Then, you will prepare a presentation about your philosopher. The due date for submitting your presentation is listed in the “Course Schedule” document.

Your presentation must be based on a written outline in or with the file(s) you upload. An effective way to do this is to prepare a PowerPoint file and a separate audio file. The PowerPoint slides are your outline, and the audio clip is your oral presentation. I recommend the PowerPoint method, but you may use other methods so long as your professor can view and hear your presentation. To prepare the audio file, you may record the oral portion on your Smart Phone or computer and upload the audio file in addition to the PowerPoint slides.

In the Philosopher Presentation, you will share the following information about the philosopher:

- The philosopher’s birth and death dates
- The philosopher’s social context (What was happening at the time the person lived, and how may this have affected her or his work?)
- The philosopher’s contributions to philosophy (and, perhaps, beyond)
- The philosopher’s influence on philosophy (and, perhaps, beyond)
- The philosopher’s significance (Why do we study this person today?)
- The philosopher’s relation to topic(s) we cover in this course
- At least one surprising fact you learned about her or him

XC PERSONAL JOURNALS (OPTIONAL, CAN ADD 5% TO FINAL GRADE)

XC Personal Journals (Extra-Credit Personal Journals). Throughout the course, you will be encouraged to write Personal Journal entries about topics or questions related to our course material. Generally, you do not need to do additional preparation for journal entries beyond reading the text and participating in discussions.

Each XC Personal Journal must be submitted on the course website by the deadline given in the “Course Schedule.” Like other written assignments, XC Personal Journals should be typewritten, double-spaced using 12 pt. font, and saved as either a Microsoft Word document or PDF file.

By completing at least five XC Personal Journal entries, you can earn up to 5% extra credit to be added to your final grade in the course.

MAKE-UP WORK

Please be aware of due dates and work ahead so you will not miss deadlines. Please consult the Course Schedule document for due dates.

Video Lecture Participation (VLP) Sheets. VLP sheets are to be handwritten and submitted in person in our classroom. VLP sheets are due at the beginning of each class session and will not be accepted late.

Written Assignments. Every written assignment is to be typewritten and double-spaced using 12 pt. font, saved as a Microsoft Word document or PDF file, and submitted by the deadline stated in the "Course Schedule" (a separate document you can find on the course website).

You will submit assignments on the course website, and each assignment is due by Midnight Central Time on the date stated in the "Course Schedule." PLEASE NOTE: Every Written Assignment is to be saved as a Microsoft Word document or PDF file.

Philosopher Presentation. Like written assignments, your Philosopher Presentation must be completed and submitted by the due date. If you submit your presentation late and within one week of the due date, the maximum grade you may earn will be 50 out of 100.

If you submit Written Assignment #1, Written Assignment #2, or your Philosopher Presentation late, the maximum grade you may earn will be 50 out of 100.
Late work will be accepted up to one week after the due date. After one week following the due date, assignments will not be accepted, and you will receive no credit for the assignment.

PLEASE NOTE: Written Assignment #3 must be submitted by the due date. Because it is due near the end of the course, Written Assignment #3 cannot be accepted late.

Grading Scheme

Grade	Range
A	90 – 100 %
B	80 – 89 %
C	70 – 79 %
D	60 – 69 %
F	59 and less %

CLASSROOM CONDUCT

Philosophy is an active pursuit, and you will be expected to engage the materials actively. During the course, you will be expected to contribute by reading, writing, listening, and providing feedback to the professor and your fellow students. As we engage fundamental questions humans have considered throughout history, you may have different convictions and points of view from others in the classroom.

You do not have to agree with the professor or other students on any topic, and your success in the course does not depend on holding any specific viewpoints. You are encouraged to think for yourself, to reach your own convictions and points of view, and to share those with others. While you do not have to agree with others, you are expected to respect others and to act toward others with courtesy and to listen, speak, write, and provide feedback in positive ways.
